Quisling Trial is Launched

PUPPET HEAD OF NORWAY DENIES GUILT

Surprise Disclosure Comes As Vidkun Presents 21,000-Word 69-Page Statement

SCORNS HIS ACCUSERS

By NED NORDNESS
Oslo, Aug. 20.—(P)—Testimony of Hermann Goering, Joachim von Ribbentrop and other high-ranking Nazis will be introduced against Vidkun Quisling, the prosecution disclosed today as the former premier of Norway went to trial on charges of treason.

State Prosecutor Annaeus Schodt announced that Allied and Norwegian officials now are taking the testimony of the Nazi witnesses in Germany, where the Nazi leaders themselves are to be tried as war criminals.

He said that those whose testimony was being taken included Alfred Rosenberg, former German minister of affairs in eastern occupied regions, Field Marshal Wilhelm Kettel and Col. Gen. Gustav Jodl.

Schodt further declared in his opening statement that Quisling met Grand Admiral Eric Raeder, Germany's naval chief, and Rosenberg in Berlin on Dec. 11, 1939 and planned the German invasion of Norway which took place four months later.

Quisling met Hitler on Dec. 14 and 15, 1939, Schodt charged, and also received 200,000 gold marks from an anti-British company for his part in planning the invasion.

Quisling pleaded perceptibly as the accusation rang out.

The surprise disclosure came as Quisling presented a 21,000-word 69-page statement detailing his own defense.

Defiantly picturing himself as a patriot and a prophet, the man whose name has become a synonym for collaboration declared that "Hitler has proved to be right—it is not England who has eventually won, but Bolshevism."

Surrender Committee Is Led to Autos

Blowing Own Horn And Didn't Know It!

Chicago, Aug. 20.—(P)—David Walanka was aroused in the early hours by the prolonged honking of an auto horn. He complained to police.

They investigated, found a short-circuited horn button in a car parked near Walanka's home, disconnected it. Then they looked up the owner in the license registration book. It was Walanka.

War Agencies Abolished At Rapid Rate

Washington, Aug. 20.—(P)—With the Office of Civilian Defense already abolished and the Office of Censorship no longer operating, here is the probable line of expectancy of other war agencies.

Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion—until June 30, 1947, expiration date set by congress.

Office of Economic Stabilization—Early consolidation with OWMR.

War Labor Board—A few months until its functions can be absorbed by the labor department.

War Manpower Commission—Early consolidation of its job-finding duties into either the labor department or a new welfare department.

Office of War Information—May fold before expiration of six months it has left.

War Production Board—Several months to be required to handle reconversion chores.

Office of Price Administration—Next June 30 with main task holding price reins since most rationing soon to end.

Petroleum Administration for War—By end of this year.

Office of Defense Transportation—Already curtailing its activities. Will close as soon as remaining restrictions lifted.

What Government Asks Of You In First Week of Peace

Washington, Aug. 20.—(P)—The Office of War Information said today:

The government needs and asks its citizens in this first week of peace to:

Continue to fight the danger of rising living costs by buying only what you need and at ceiling prices. Remember that 40 per cent of the price rise of the last war occurred after the Armistice.

Encourage merchant seamen to stay on their ships. Returning the soldiers, carrying supplies for devastated countries, and resumption of normal trade remain jobs ahead for the merchant marine.

Pres. Truman Is Giving Top Place To Post-War Problems

Washington, Aug. 20.—(P)—The government hastened today to give white collar workers and all others earning salaries the same good news—officially—already given wage earners: the lid's off on raises.

The only halter the government will hold on increases is this: They can be given where the increase does not mean an increase in prices, too.

The Internal Revenue Bureau is writing out instructions about the white collar workers and they will be released soon.

Losing no time in pushing reconversion, President Truman called into a White House conference John W. Snyder, reconversion director, and a special advisory committee on problems involved in the change-over to peace.

The committee, headed by former Governor O. Max Gardner of North Carolina, consists of representatives of organized business, labor and farm groups. It was created to advise the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion when Secretary of State Byrnes was director.

Before the committee met, another big cutback in war orders was announced. The War Shipping Administration cancelled $425,000,000 of contracts for 135 vessels and special military equipment for the navy.

Seeking to speed the flow of scarce materials into civilian production, WPA Chairman J. A. Krug asked all prime and subcontractors to cancel with "utmost speed" all orders for materials no longer needed to fill military commitments. Krug's letter said that to do otherwise will "needlessly postpone the full-fledged reconversion effort which is crucial to the nation's economic welfare."

The score as America entered its first full week of peace:

1. The nation will have one of its biggest Christmas shopping seasons.
2. President Truman will continue wartime controls where needed.
3. Mr. Truman will abolish wartime agencies quickly, where he can.
4. OPA still is aiming at lower clothing prices; they may come by Christmas.
5. The government won't stop cashing of war bonds, but it wants people to hold on to them.
6. Lend-lease, the 45 billion dollar pipeline to victory, is being shut off.
7. In a directive to his department and agency heads over the weekend, Mr. Truman rounded up all he and his right-hand men had said last week the government reconversion policy would be.

Briefly, he said:

Price controls must continue, but only where necessary. Just as (Turn to Page Seven)

ERIE BAY SCENE OF ANOTHER DROWNING

Erie, Aug. 20.—(P)—Ten-year-old Thomas Jasinsky drowned in Erie Bay last night while his 9-year-old brother, Eugene, looked on helplessly.

Investigators said the lad waded out beyond his depth and was swept by his death. The body was not recovered.

Two Arrested For Slaying In Erie Co.

Williamsport, Aug. 20.—(P)—Two Williamsport men, Robert W. Pepperman, 29 and John D. West, 27, were taken to Erie today to face charges of murder in the slaying of Joseph B. Campbell, 73, a retired Erie manufacturer, Sgt. T. G. Moriarity, of the State Police here reported.

Moriarity said both men signed statements that they beat the man on August 1 at his home about four miles from Erie and took his automobile but did not know he was dead when they left his home.

Moriarity said the two men were arrested here last night, Pepperman at his home, and West at a hotel and were questioned by police until 5 a. m. They were taken to Erie by Sheriff Fred W. Lamb.

President Leads Nation In Prayer

Washington, Aug. 20.—(P)—President Truman led a grateful nation in prayerful Thanksgiving yesterday for the victory that has been won.

Seated in the east room of the White House with Mrs. Truman, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and ranking officials of the government, the chief executive heard Brig. Gen. Luther D. Miller pray:

"May we be worthy of the sacrifice of those who gave themselves for this moment, x x x Help us to know the end of battles is but the beginning of opportunity."

Mr. Truman designated Sunday as a national day of prayer two days after he announced Japanese surrender.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, in a radio address (CBS) in New York, called on the world's women to intensify their "power for good x x x in order to insure that the forces of the world are used for constructive purposes."

WAINWRIGHT ENROUTE TO CHUNGKING

Liberated General With Hundreds of Others Believed To Be On Way To Manila

CAPTIVE THREE YEARS

By SPENCER MOOSA
Chungking, Aug. 20.—(P)—Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, the hero of Corregidor who has been liberated with hundreds of other war prisoners in Manchuria and North China, was en route today to Chungking and perhaps from there to Manila for the personal satisfaction of facing surrender envoys of the Japanese.

Wainwright, 61-year-old leader of the epic American and Filipino resistance at Corregidor after the fall of the Philippines, was a captive for three years and three months.

He was found in a prisoner of war camp at Hsiao, 100 miles northwest of Mukden in Manchuria, by one of a number of six-man "humanitarian" teams who parachuted into the areas of several prisoner of war camps in the China theater Aug. 16.

Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, U. S. commander in China, who announced these developments, said Wainwright was well. If he arrives in Chungking in time he may be able to get to Manila—in whose bay the fortress island of Corregidor now flies the American flag—where Japanese emissaries now are negotiating a formal surrender with aides of Gen. MacArthur.

(In Manila an unconfirmed report said Wainwright may attend with MacArthur the formal surrender ceremony in Japan.)

For the other prisoners of war who were liberated by these teams, ships are being rushed to various ports so that they may be evacuated with dispatch, and in some cases planes are being sent for litter patients.

Wedemeyer said there would be no discrimination in succoring Allied prisoners of war and civilian internees, regardless of nationality. He said the prisoners of war and civilian internees in China included 3,600 at Mukden, 9,600 at Shanghai, 2,800 at Hainan Island, 6,000 at Honk Kong, 2,700 at Peking, 1,000 in Korea, 2,500 in Formosa, 5,600 in Indo-China, and some 30,000 in the Japanese home islands.

One team found 1,673 prisoners in the Mukden camp, including 1,321 Americans, 293 British, 67 Dutch, 44 Australians, a Canadian and a Frenchman. Most were undisciplined. Among the Americans may be many who withstood the last horrible days of the blazing siege of Corregidor.

In the same camp with Wainwright was A. W. L. Tjarda van Starkenborgh Stachouwer, governor-general of the Netherlands Indies, who resisted the Japanese to the last before his capture. He (Turn to Page Two)

Girl Believed Slain During Celebration

Haddon Heights, N. J., Aug. 20.—(P)—A girl, believed to be a brown-haired girl who was apparently attacked and slain in a victory celebration Friday night was found yesterday in a cistern in a lonely section of this town.

Police said the girl had been attacked, probably knocked unconscious and then tossed alive into the cistern, where she died of suffocation.

The attack, police said, presumably took place in tangled underbrush about 40 feet from the cistern. The slayer, they theorized, dragged her to the well, lifted a 200-pound iron trap door, dropped the body and then replaced the door.

In the underbrush, a red skull cap bearing the words "Let's Get It Over. It's Over Now." was found. Such caps were sold in victory celebrations. Also discovered were quantities of confetti, a blood-stained undergarment, a pair of orchid evening slippers and a red feather.

An autopsy disclosed the girl, who Coroner Edward C. Gardner said was about 24, had borne children. "She had beautiful brown hair, shoulder length. She had perfect teeth," Gardner said.

The body bore numerous bruises and the lower lip was split as if from the blow of a fist.

Huge Reduction In Draft Calls Planned

Washington, Aug. 20.—(P)—Navy and marine draft calls for September have been reduced from 22,000 to 13,000, Vice Admiral Randall Jacobs said today.

The chief of the Navy bureau of personnel reported that the Navy call was lowered from 17,000 to 10,000 and the marine call from 5,000 to 3,000 to 3,000. The Coast Guard did not originally ask for any inductees for September.

The Army previously had cut its draft calls from 80,000 to 50,000.

Admiral Jacobs disclosed the reductions at a news conference at which he discussed the Navy's new discharge plan.

Communists Predict Civil War In China

Chungking, Aug. 20.—(P)—Credible reports today said Gen. Yeh Si-Shan's regular Chinese forces had clashed with Chinese Communists near Tai-Yuan, Japanese-occupied capital of Shansi province in North China. The Communists were said to have seized the airfield near Tai-Yuan and then been ejected by the regulars.

Chungking, Aug. 20.—(P)—Chinese government troops striking swiftly into North China are advancing on Paotow in the inner Mongolian province of Suiyuan, 100 miles northwest of the Shansi border and 320 miles west of Peking, the high command announced today.

The development came as the Chinese awaited the arrival of surrender envoys from the Japanese supreme command and coincided with a warning by the Chinese Communist commander to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek to act swiftly to avert a "grave threat" of civil war between the government and Communist forces.

Other Chinese troops under Gen. Tang En-Po reoccupied Yuchow, important former treaty port on the West coast, 115 miles west of Canton, and other towns. There was no indication of any fighting and it was presumed the Japanese withdrew peacefully.

The troops at Paotow are commanded by Gen. Fu-Tso-yi. Troops in North China also reoccupied Tai-yuan in Shansi, ten miles from the occupied provincial capital of the same name.

Troops under Gen. Yen Si-Shan reoccupied Yucheng, Hsingtung, Chaochow, Fengyuan, Khsien, Tsingyuan, Sukow and Taiiku, all in Shansi province. In Shansi, troops under Gen. Hu Chung-Nan between Friday and Sunday reoccupied Yungtsi, Lintsin and Yung-ho. In Honan province to the troops under the same command occupied Shiangshien and Hweishingchen.

In the maritime province of Chekiang Chinese regulars under Gen. Ku Chu-Tung reoccupied Ninghai and Fenshui, and regulars and militia took over six other towns.

As arrangements were completed for the surrender, foreign reports said 20,000 to 30,000 Communist guerrillas were moving on Wuhu, Yangtze river port, possibly preparing to drive 60 miles downstream to Nanjing, which is to be the new seat of Chiang's government. These forces were said to be ill-armed. There was no confirmation of their efforts in Chungking, but government circles were not greatly concerned about them.

Ship Construction Is At A Standstill

Washington, Aug. 20.—(P)—The Maritime Commission announced today cancellation of $425,000,000 in contracts covering the construction of 135 ships and three contracts for special military equipment.

The cancelled contracts covered 35 coastal cargo ships, 42 victory cargo ships, 24 small tankers for lend-lease to Great Britain, four Liberty ships being converted to aircraft repair ships eight military type victories, eight tankers, five large military transports of the C-4 type, six refrigerator ships, and three large passenger ships of the P-2 type.

The commission said three contracts covering special military equipment for the navy accounted for $70,000,000 of the $425,000,000 in cancellations.

HIROHITO'S DELEGATES ARE SENT HOME WITH DETAILS OF ALLIED OCCUPATION PLANS

Envoys Given Instructions to Prepare Necessary Airfields, Harbors and Other Facilities For Yanks' Arrival

CEREMONY TO TAKE PLACE IN OR NEAR TOKYO

Manila, Aug. 20.—(P)—The Japanese indicated in an official message to General MacArthur today that it would be necessary for the present to keep armed forces both in Japan and on the continent to maintain order. Tokyo also asked MacArthur to send officials to investigate "the actual situation in China" in a message heard by the Associated Press monitor. The message said Japanese forces already had completely ceased hostilities and "intend to carry out the demands mentioned in the joint proclamation" of Potsdam.

By RUSSELL BRINES
Manila, Aug. 20.—(P)—Formal surrender of Japan will be signed within 10 days, General MacArthur announced today.

Only adverse weather can delay the formal end of the war, the supreme Allied commander said, as he sent Emperor Hirohito's delegates flying home with detailed instructions on the Allied occupation.

Within 24 hours after their arrival in Manila, the mikado's emissaries left Nichols Field at 1:03 p. m. today. They left behind full details needed by MacArthur for imminent victorious entry into Japan at the head of ground, air and naval occupation forces. They will be prepared, said a headquarters spokesman, "for any contingency."

The envoys were told the date MacArthur and his accompanying forces intend to arrive in Japan and instructed to prepare the necessary airfields, harbors and other facilities for their arrival.

It was expected that Lt. Gen. Takashiro Kawabe and the other emissaries would report immediately to high government and military officials and perhaps to the emperor himself.

"We will do the best possible to make sure that all arrangements are completed on time," the emissaries said before leaving Manila.

It was understood that the formal surrender will be signed by General MacArthur in or near Tokyo.

Thereafter, a statement issued by the supreme commander said, he will direct the Japanese imperial headquarters to issue instructions for the unconditional surrender of all Japanese commanders abroad to surrender their forces to the appropriate theatre commanders.

It was understood that all plans were definitely made during whirlwind conferences here last night and this morning and that no further exchange of radio instructions would be necessary.

Manila sessions definitely cleared the air, MacArthur aides said, and made a successful occupation of Japan more promising.

None can say, however, whether "disorders" reported today by Tokyo radio will end before Allied forces arrive.

The land, sea and air occupation of Japan presumably will be conducted as a simultaneous and well-coordinated action. The original occupation forces were expected to be largely American, backed by American air forces and Admiral Halsey's mighty Third Fleet still lying off Japan.

A headquarters spokesman said that for the present a "technical state of truce" exists. No formal surrender will be signed before the American entry.

Hirohito's 16 surrender emissaries to Manila returned to Tokyo by air loaded down with 24 or 25 pages of detailed documents on what should be done to prepare for the occupation.

During the entire session, General MacArthur was coldly aloof and never once met the Japanese. The entire procedure for ending the Pacific war, from Japan's surrender offer through the series of (Turn to Page Seven)

Popular Local Boy Dies In Plane Crash In Pacific Area

In messages received Friday evening from the Navy Department, family and friends learned that T/Sgt. Paul J. Rogers, U. S. Marine Corps, died in an airplane accident in the Central Pacific Area on August 6, 1945.

Telegrams received by his wife, Anne Weigel Rogers, 311 Market street, and his mother Mrs. Mabel A. Rogers, 24 Mohawk avenue, gave no details concerning the accident.

Sgt. Rogers was born in Warren February 5, 1920, the son of Mabel A. Rogers and the late Paul S. Rogers. He received most of his schooling here and was graduated from Warren High School in the class of 1940. Besides his wife and mother, he leaves a sister, Mrs. Martha Rood, and a nephew, Roger David Rood.

He joined the Marine Corps in Buffalo, N. Y., on January 23, 1942, and had his basic training at Parris Island, S. C. He was also stationed at Cherry Point, N. C.; Jacksonville, Fla.; and New River, N. C., before going overseas on May 3, 1944, from El Centro, Calif.

In a letter received by his wife on July 28, Sgt. Rogers stated he was awaiting transportation for a furlough home. His only furlough since entering the service was a brief time in December, 1943.

A memorial mass will be sung at St. Joseph's church at nine o'clock tomorrow morning.

FIREMEN TO HOLD CONVENTION IN '46

Springboro, Aug. 20.—(P)—The Northwestern Pennsylvania Firemen's Association, with members from Erie, Crawford, Warren, Mercer, Venango and Lawrence counties, will hold a convention next year for the first time since 1941.

Definitive plans were made at an annual meeting of association representatives here Saturday night. Selection of the date and place was deferred.

Fred Cuffison, Mercer fire chief, was re-elected president of the association. Other officers named were: Fred A. Carmen, Meadville, first vice president; John Koffler, Sharon, second vice president; Earl McCreary, West Middlesex, treasurer; and Frank Robinson, New Castle, secretary.

Labor - Management Meeting Proposed By President Truman

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Aug. 19—(AP)—President Truman has given a final shove to management and labor to get them into a room together. He's calling a labor-management conference when congress returns in September.

It was no sudden presidential inspiration. The idea is not new. But it has been hanging in mid-air some time. Time is running out.

With labor and management no longer tied together by the common bonds of war, resumption of the age-old fight between them seemed certain.

Last March the AFL, CIO and U. S. Chamber of Commerce sat dawn around a conference table, drew up a "new charter for labor and management."

Its purpose: to seek labor-management peace at war's end. It proposed voluntary machinery and peaceful settlement of disputes as substitutes for wartime controls.

So far nothing much has happened. The National Association of Manufacturers took no part in it. The AFL finally said it would not sit down with management and the CIO.

It said management could settle its AFL problems with the AFL and its CIO problems with the CIO.

Then came the United Nations conference in San Francisco. Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) was an American delegate there.

He saw 50 nations, with widely different views and interests, reach some common understanding on what was good for them. He was impressed.

He returned to Washington and on August 2 proposed a labor-industry-government so that all groups interested in industrial peace could:

"Frankly face the need for a better, a surer and wiser code for their mutual advancement in the desperately uncertain times that lie ahead in an otherwise chaotic postwar world."

He made the suggestion in a letter to Labor Secretary Schwelb. The secretary immediately endorsed the idea and said he, too, had been thinking of the same thing.

ENJOYED ANNUAL PICNIC

Men of the Borough Street Department held their annual picnic and outing at the cottage of E. T. Beck on the Tidouste road Saturday. There were a 100% attendance and the affair was thoroughly enjoyable in every way. A fine dinner was enjoyed and games of various kinds helped pass the afternoon and evening most enjoyably.

RUINS STILL SMOULDER

Ruins of the big dairy barn of the Rosecliff Dairy were still smoldering this morning. The barn contained over 100 tons of hay and straw and this is ablaze. Crews of men have been at work since the fire turning over the mass of hay and straw and firemen have been soaking down the embers with heavy streams of water for fear that winds might fan the stuff into another bad blaze.

THE STATE POLICE SAY:

The scene of an accident is frequently the setting for other accidents. It is a common practice, on the part of certain drivers, to continue to operate at a fast rate of speed when approaching the scene of an accident. The attention of these drivers is often diverted to the wreck, and the result is that they themselves are involved in another accident. When there is an obstruction ahead, particularly at night, slow down and be in a position to stop.

PICNICS WERE ENJOYED

Warren Council Knights of Columbus and the Warren Lodge of Moose held their annual picnics yesterday with large numbers attending each. The K. of C. outing was held at the Hemlock Community House with over 80 of the members in attendance and a chicken dinner with all the trimmings was enjoyed. The Moose held their outing at Oakview Park with several hundred present. This is always a largely attended affair and a program of sports, etc., was enjoyed. A dinner was also served.

VETERANS OPEN STATION

Ray Schwab and Max Brown, two World War II veterans have taken over the management of the Motor Lighthouse Service station at Conewago avenue and Pennsylvania avenue. They will continue the distribution of Texas Oil products Sky Chief and Fire Chief Gasoline, Texaco and Mavoline Motor Oils and will give Marfax Car Lubrication. Both of the young men are well and favorably known and both won much commendation in the outfits with which they served in the late war. The station will undoubtedly prove even more popular in the future than it has in the past.

said they would bid for seats at the conference table. Labor and business politely agreed.

Vandenberg's idea was this: Industrial peace can be set up by law "by the common recommendation of all concerned if they can meet together, under proper auspices, to face a challenge which cannot long go unanswered."

He said further: "Responsible management knows that free collective bargaining is here to stay. Responsible labor leadership knows that irresponsible strikes and subversive attacks upon essential production are the gravest threats to the permanent success of labor's bill of rights."

Mr. Truman has asked labor and management to continue their wartime pledge of no-strikes and no-lockouts until the conference has been held and some plan for industrial peace worked out.

THE ANSWER TO A QUESTION MILLIONS OF MOTORISTS ARE ASKING

THE QUESTION: "Now that gasoline rationing has ended, when will we get that wonderful new postwar gasoline we've been hearing about?"

The Government's prompt action in ending more than three years of gasoline rationing was most welcome news for the American motorist. Gasoline rationing, however, was only one of many wartime restrictions placed on the petroleum industry.

Other Restrictions Remain

Government orders limiting the quality, supplies and transportation of gasoline remain in effect in certain areas. These restrictions will be ended, according to Petroleum Administration for War, as quickly as necessary transportation and distribution adjustments can be made—as soon as American tankers are released from war zones for peace-time operations, pipelines are reconverted for normal use and civilian warehouses are refilled.

Sun Oil Company's output during the war demonstrates its ability to be the peace-time leader in gasoline manufacture. Since Pearl Harbor, more 100-octane aviation gasoline has been shipped by Sun's Marcus Hook Refinery than by any other refinery in the world.

Sun Refineries Ready to Produce New, Better Automobile Fuel

Sun Oil Company's Marcus Hook Refinery, with the greatest catalytic cracking capacity of any refinery in America, and its well equipped catalytic refinery at Toledo are now ready for the production of finer quality motor fuel. In quality of total output, the ability of these refineries to provide postwar America with the finest gasoline cannot be matched.

Niceties Cropping Up In Officers' Clubs On Iwo Jima

By ROBIN COONS

(Advance)—Iwo Jima—(AP)—Five months after the American assault, the social niceties are cropping up here and there on Iwo officers' clubs—strictly ersatz and practically handmade—are appearing on the otherwise utilitarian landscape.

Seventh fighter command headquarters opened its club July 4—a quonset hut which had served as a raid shelter, now painted inside, furnished with chairs, tables and a bar made by the members in spare "setters" insignia, features a girl in a bathing suit and a man—in civilian clothes—with the legend, "190 points." The belles of the island, nurses and Red Cross girls, were there under the usual "rules for dates"; two officers, at least one of them armed (against Japanese skulkers) call for two girls: The "date" is ended by 10 p. m.

"The Red Pony" in one of the fighter squadron clubs.

"We were allotted a quonset, and we chose to live in tents and use the hut as a club," said Lt. Stephen Treacy of (39 S. Avon St.), St. Paul, Minn., secretary-treasurer.

But to be appreciated, a club must be seen in process of construction. Near the "Red Pony" is a smart structure—neither quonset nor tent—which has the earmarks of a stateside rendezvous. Working in it when we visited were Maj. Daum G. Anthony of Mt. Clemens, Mich., squadron commander, who claimed credit only for "nailing a few boards, stain-

"The wood," explained Anthony, "came from here and there—mostly there. The floors were the sides of wing-tank crates. We have some linoleum, five rolls, which we think will be just enough. We all chipped in for the radio-phonograph."

Lt. T. C. Green of (Route 233), Houston, Tex., made the bar's carbonating system from an old oxygen cylinder and a fire extinguisher. Other ingredients of drinks served at the bar come from the men's individual rations, when and if Lt. A. J. Kinvig of Douglas, Ariz., designed and supervised building of the furniture. The club has insulation material from a wrecked B-29 to upholster its benches and chairs, when it gets the needed cloth or leather, and its special pride is its poker room, with round table covered by an army blanket and rubberized cloth.

Pride of another squadron club is its "ladies powder room." It boasts a mirrored dressing table with a baby-blue silk flounce!

BRIGHT CLOUD—DARK LINING

The government's actions in lifting gasoline rationing and the 35-mile automobile speed limit can be likened appropriately to a bright cloud with an extremely dark lining—a lining which in many cases will prove as black as the crepe of death.

This statement is not made in criticism of the government's action. On the contrary, criticism and condemnation will be the proper public reaction to failure to ease wartime regimentations of all kinds at the earliest possible moment.

But the tragic fact still remains that the return to abundance in gasoline and the lifting of speed regulations are sure to mean a sharp increase in the number of deaths upon the highways. There is no sound reason why there should be an increase—just as there is no good reason for most traffic accidents. Most cars will be driven on tires that are well worn—and tire blowouts are one of the chief causes of traffic mishaps. Few cars are in the best mechanical condition, which adds materially to the probability of accidents in them. And a further and most important consideration is the fact that most drivers are out of practice. Their opportunities to drive have been extremely limited during the past two or three years.

Prospects for the immediate future are all the more tragic because so much of preventive nature be done so easily—and yet will not be done. This, we suppose, arises from the natural feeling of the individual that serious accidents are something that happens to the other fellow, never to himself.

If this natural feeling could be altered and the individual would awaken to the realization that he is the type of person who does have accidents, then traffic tragedies certainly would be fewer. And it might be helpful if, for a few weeks, traffic enforcement agencies of all kinds in states, counties and municipalities would enforce traffic laws vigorously.

Indeed, the prevention of deaths on the highways is so simple that it seems incredible that most of them would be allowed to occur. Yet, unless human nature has changed it inevitably will happen that many persons will pay with their lives for the privilege of buying more gasoline and driving at higher speed.

BALLOON BOMB "BUST"

The characteristic inconsistency of the Japanese in their squawks about the "inhumanity" of the atomic bomb has been emphasized anew by the disclosure that at least 225 of their balloon bombs reached the American continent during the first nine months of the war.

It is true, of course, that the balloon bomb did not compare with the atomic in its destruction potentialities. But the manner in which the balloon weapon was used by the enemy was infinitely more barbaric.

Not even the enemy made any claims as to accuracy for their balloon bombers. The Japs simply released the balloons hoping they might explode with damaging effect somewhere. They knew that the mathematical chances were several thousand to one against them exploding on any military objective. They knew that victims were more likely to be innocent persons than anyone actively connected with our war effort. Indeed, the only victims were six small children on a picnic.

By way of contrast, the American atomic bomb was used as a precision weapon. Only two were dropped, each upon a prime military target.

The difference is that Uncle Sam adhered to the rules of war with his atomic bombs. The Japs, with their balloon bombs, violated all rules of war. The fact that the Jap weapon proved a complete "bust" was due to no lack of desire on the part of the enemy. It was the worst thing he could think of doing under the circumstances, and he did it. The only reason his balloons were not laden with atomic bombs was the fact that he did not know the atomic secret.

Now that the war is over we are safe in trusting the Japs—about as far as we can see them, and nobody realizes that more than Gen. MacArthur.

According to reports Warren complied in appropriate manner to the president's proclamation for a day of prayer and thanksgiving Sunday!

V-J Day Brings Commendation For War Workers of District

The following V-J statement was issued by Colonel Lester W. Hurd, commanding officer, New York Chemical Warfare Procurement District:

The end of this, the greatest war in history, came with such suddenness that we have not yet been able to grasp the full meaning that it is all over. Our people, both in the Chemical Warfare Service, itself, and in the many hundreds of war plants in the Middle Atlantic States engaged in making war material for CWS, have been working at top speed in getting out our greatest incendiary bomb and flamethrower production since Pearl Harbor.

It has been through the splendid cooperation of management and the untiring efforts of the war workers in these states that we have been able to make outstanding production records and overseas shipments, enough and on time. We shall be eternally grateful for their contribution to our Service.

We know that the millions of fire bombs produced here and delivered to the Pacific have hastened the capitulation of the Japanese empire. We were ready to produce in the next twelve months the greatest weight of incendiary bombs in our history, some 800,000 tons, or, in long count, some 150,000,000 fire sticks. These alone would have left nothing but charred ruins of the Japanese mainland as well as Japanese-occupied territory.

We were ready with huge quantities of toxic gases in the form of shells, bombs, and airplane spray tanks. Our GIs were provided with the latest types of gas protective equipment—all just in case the Japs resorted to gas warfare as one of their last desperate measures.

But the war end has come, dramatically and suddenly, but not too soon for any of us.

We are now devoting our entire organization to the speedy termination of war contracts. It is our expectation to clear plants, without delay, of Government equipment and materials, settle the claims of the contractors, and allow quick reconversion to civilian production and the return to the peaceful way of life.

RADAR

...Spotted Targets Through Darkness, Smoke or Fog

The Bell System—
the largest source of Radar for our fighting forces

THIS is not surprising for Radar development and production stems from the same roots that produced and continue to nourish this country's telephone system.

Radar, the instrument which enabled our land, sea and air forces to spot enemy targets through darkness, smoke or fog, was one of the outstanding new fighting instruments of the war.

Two years before Pearl Harbor the Government asked Bell Telephone Laboratories to put its wide experience and knowledge of electronics to work to help perfect Radar as a military instrument. From then on the Laboratories co-operated closely in the Radar program with the National Defense Research Committee, with Army and Navy specialists, and with scientists of Great Britain.

The Western Electric Company, manufacturing branch of the Bell System, became the Nation's largest supplier of Radar systems. One type it made was universally used by B-29's in the Pacific for navigation, target location and high altitude bombing. Another played an important part in aiming the guns on our warships.

If you're waiting for a home telephone, it helps a little to know that Radar is one of the reasons. For years telephone manufacturing plants were devoted to these war needs.

How GREEN is your GARDEN?

Much Depends on Proper Watering

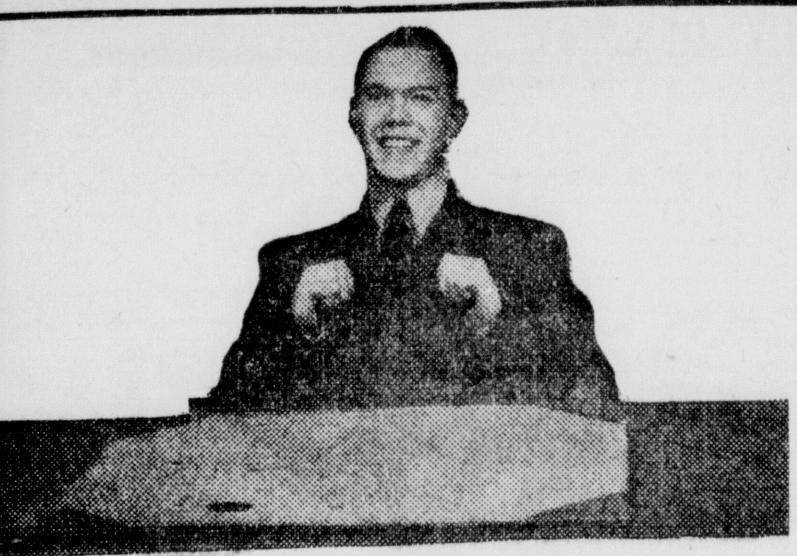

HERE Are Two Good Rules:

• Water the ground evenly, not in patches. "Puddles" that stand too long may be harmful to plants.

• A thorough soaking is better than sprinkling. Sprinkling only hardens the surface

PAK Caravan Plans Are Being Outlined

The PAK Caravan, winding up its summer schedule, will go to Lacy school Thursday evening to bring PAK members in the east end of town a special activity. Because most activities for boys and girls are in the center of town, this program is one effort to bring some fun to another neighborhood.

Arrangements have been made for the use of the lawn back of the Lacy building and for electrical connections needed for the program. PAK's public address system will be used to provide a program complete with sound effects and other professional finish. Details of this program will be available within the next day or two. Games, group singing and a motion picture, "Eventually Yours" starring Loretta Young, will also be included in the evenings activities.

Boys and girls of Lacy School District as well as others who may wish to attend will be given a cordial welcome to this PAK activity. PAK members from other parts of town anticipate "doing the going" for this time which should insure an evening of real fun.

Orchid For Teacher

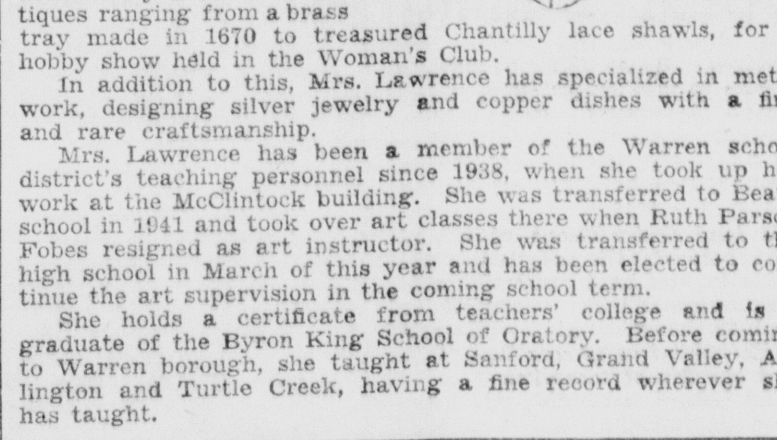

Visitors to Chautauqua Institution report that Gerda K. Lawrence, art teacher in the local high school, is one of the busiest persons on the grounds. Not only does she have an oil painting of her farm at Grand Valley in the art exhibition at the Colonnade, but has had the distinct honor of designing the 1947 banner for the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle.

She also arranged most attractively a booth of antiques ranging from a brass tray made in 1670 to treasured Chantilly lace shawls, for a hobby show held in the Woman's Club.

In addition to this, Mrs. Lawrence has specialized in metal work, designing silver jewelry and copper dishes with a fine and rare craftsmanship.

Mrs. Lawrence has been a member of the Warren school district's teaching personnel since 1938, when she took up her work at the McClintock building. She was transferred to Beatty school in 1941 and took over art classes there when Ruth Parson Forbes resigned as art instructor. She was transferred to the high school in March of this year and has been elected to continue the art supervision in the coming school term.

She holds a certificate from the Byron King School of Oratory. Before coming to Warren borough, she taught at Sanford, Grand Valley, Arlington and Turtle Creek, having a fine record wherever she has taught.

New Richmond Maple Lawn Club Defeats Independents Sunday By Score of 8 to 3

Inability to hit in the clutches coupled with sloppy defensive play enabled the New Richmond Maple Lawn club to register an 8 to 3 decision over the yet inexperienced Warren Indies yesterday afternoon on the latter's diamond.

Jim Rose, on the mound for the locals, was touched for twelve base knocks, but many were of the scratch variety as the Warren nine played strictly amateur ball keeping the Indie veteran in hot water most of the afternoon. Maple Lawn converted their bingles into eight markers while the best the locals could do off the slants of Cannon, slim right-hander, were eight hits, one a scorching double to left field by Ray Reed which sent two runners across the plate in the sixth inning when the Warren team threatened to wipe out a 5 to 0 lead.

New Richmond, scoring twice in the second inning, added single markers in the third, fourth and sixth innings to build up a commanding 5-0 lead. Warren threatened during the early innings but two sloppy double plays choked off the rallies. In the sixth, three hits, climaxed by Reed's double, a double steal by Schussler and Reed gave Warren their three runs.

Going into the seventh with the score 5 to 3, the winners were handed four runs as the Indie infield fell apart committing a series of costly errors. Richmond led the game as they extended their score to eight.

No games are scheduled for this week as most of the "hids" will be turning in their baseball suits for football togs.

Erie Squads Are Bumped In Tourney

Erie, Aug. 20.—(P)—Three Pittsburgh district teams bumped three Erie squads to enter the semi-final round of the men's class, a division of Pennsylvania Softball Association's championship tournament here yesterday.

Union Springs of New Kensington scored an impressive victory, defeating Erie Perry Club 16-3. Earlier the Aluminum City outfit had turned back the Monongahela Ridgeleys, 5-0.

Pittsburgh Steel Foundry of Glassport collected only six hits off Mike Reagan, who has hurled 29 no-hit games, but took advantage of two errors to beat the Erie Polish Foresters, 5-3. The Westinghouse squad reached the semi-finals by blanking Erie Polish Foresters, 7-0.

The fourth semi-finalist will be determined in elimination games next Saturday, with the title game for Sunday. At the same time two feminine teams, Erie of Erie and a Bethlehem squad, will meet for the state women's class A title.

Other weekend tourney scores: Erie Slovak Juniors 5; Meadville Eagles 4; Erie Perry Club 2; Butler H. T. Baking 1; Erie Foresters 3; Sharon CIO Local 6; Sharpville CIO Local 2; St. Marys Moose 2; Bradford Italian American 1; Erie Penecle 4; Meadville Duquesne Beer 2; New Castle 6; North Braddock 4; Westinghouse 10; Franklin Chicago Pneumatic Tool 4; Monongahela 1; St. Marys Spear Registar 0; Westinghouse 6; New Castle 1; Glassport 2; Allquippa 1; Erie Falcons 3; St. Marys Moose 2.

Grid Officials' Test To Be Given

J. B. Leidig, high school athletic director, announces that the first and only football officials' examination for the school year 1945-6 will be conducted at 7:30 p. m., Thursday, September 6, 1945 at centers to be announced at a later date.

Any individual who desires to apply for approval as a P. I. A. A. official should make application direct to: Edmund Wicht, Executive Secretary, P. I. A. A., Harrisburg, Pa.

Mr. Leidig also stated that a football rules interpretation meeting will be conducted by Dr. Frank P. Maguire, commissioner on officials of the P. I. A. A., at Erie's Tech High School on Wednesday, August 29, 1945.

SCORE IS EVENED IN NPC SOFTBALL SERIES
The combined 1st and 3rd floors of the New Process Company scored a 19-10 victory over the 2nd floor last Friday night at Beatty. Friday's win evens the two teams at one apiece and a "rubber" game will be played at a later date.

Batte a for the winners were Brown and Chieftain, and for the losers Morelli and "Sherry" Brown.

FORGE GAME GAME CANCELLED

The National Forge-Erie Moose game, scheduled for yesterday afternoon at Wilder Field, was cancelled by the Moose Club because of transportation and schedule difficulties.

ANNUAL TOURNAMENT IS ON AT MAPLEHURST

At the Maplehurst Golf Course the annual tournament is under way. Several matches have already been played and the course is being burned up by the boys this year. From all indications the course records promise to be broken before the tourney is at an end. Several Warren players are taking part in the tourney. The course at present is in the best shape in its history and Sunday a large number from this city were smacking the little pellet around.

ST. JOE'S LOSE TO ERIE WORKERS

The St. Joseph's softball team lost to the Erie City Iron Works in a hotly-contested game on the west side diamond Sunday afternoon by a score of 6 to 2.

ACCUSED

I've been accused of being a "Yes Man" . . . and come to think of it—I am! That is, I like to say "Yes" when people ask for a loan. Which is only logical, after all, for the more times I say "Yes" the more loans I make. And since making Personal Loans is my full-time business, that's mighty important to me.

"Usually I can say 'Yes' in a hurry. But even when circumstances are unusual, I try to find a way to work out a deal. That's why Personal is so often able to make loans that others cannot.

"Of course—once in a while I can't find a way. That's natural. When that happens, I personally sit down with the customer in a private office and discuss the situation frankly, on a common sense basis.

Like most people, I don't believe in unnecessary borrowing . . . but when a loan is needed or to your advantage, I'll be glad to say "Yes". Anytime you need extra cash—see me, won't you? Right now, for instance. See me at Personal Finance Co., 216 Liberty St., second floor, over Lester Shoe Store. Phone 235.

MacArthur-Japanese radiocasts and the Manila conference has been in the nature of wartime pathfinding. The procedures followed had no precedent.

MacArthur and a large number of headquarters officials were expected to depart within a few days by plane for Japan.

Air officials at the Manila conference went into considerable detail on the condition of airfields around Tokyo. Results of their questioning were not disclosed, but their quest undoubtedly was to find several fields in good enough shape to accommodate heavy American planes.

MacArthur said he would accept the surrender in the names of the United States, Chinese Republic, Soviet Union and the United Kingdom. After that he would direct the Imperial Japanese headquarters to issue general orders of instructions to Japanese commanders wherever they are situated to "surrender unconditionally all forces under their control to Allied theatre commanders."

This may delay surrenders in such places as China and Malaya until after MacArthur signs the master instrument.

The exact site of signing was undisclosed. (Previous indications were that it would be in Tokyo.)

General MacArthur directed that responsibility for that portion of the southwest Pacific area which lies south of the Philippines will henceforth be assumed by British and Australian commanders.

Japanese emissaries departed for home after being flatly told in two conferences with MacArthur's aids that the duties of the Japanese will be under Allied occupation.

American headquarters spokesman said General MacArthur's top ranking staff members were pleased with the apparent sincere attitude of the Japanese in providing military data to complete the occupation without incident.

It was believed here that Japan's previous delays, which had been generally interpreted as "stalling" were largely due to Japan's unfamiliarity with surrender procedure and the stunning impact of defeat following so closely on the heels of the atomic bomb.

There were unconfirmed reports that Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, Eighth Army commander now in Manila, Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, hero of Corregidor, might attend the formal surrender ceremony in Japan. Wainwright was found safe in a Japanese prison camp near Mukden by American parachutists, who said they expected to be able to fly him into Free China in a day or two.

In wartime, price ceilings can be lifted to ease hardship or correct inequities.

The War Labor Board will remain for a while. It will continue to handle labor disputes which interfere with reconversion as it handled in wartime those which interfered with the war effort.

There can be widespread wage increases without bothering to ask government permission—provided the boss who gives the raises doesn't try to use them as an excuse for hiking prices.

Mr. Truman is known to have ordered an end to the strictly wartime agencies as quickly as possible.

Schauer said that finding of Campbell's automobile outside Canton, O., on August 7, led to the arrest of the two men. He said that a cake of soap, bearing the stamp of a Michigan hotel, was found in the car. He said police checked with the hotel and learned that West and Pepperman had registered there under their own names. Williamsport police then were contacted. Schauer said, and it was learned that both were absent from the city.

Schauer said Campbell's body was found on August 4. He lived alone.

Officials Probe Clues To Identity of Hit-Skip Auto Driver Blamed For Death

A determined manhunt is on in two states for a green Dodge automobile which struck and fatally injured B. N. Rayburn, 88, well known resident of the vicinity of Torpedo who was killed instantly by the hit-and-run driver Friday afternoon about 2:45 o'clock, shortly after he had left a friend John Hardy, and started walking toward the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rinehart, with whom he resided on Route 27.

County officials and state police investigating the accident, received a report from a motorist following the death car, who said he chased the green car at a speed of about 70 miles an hour almost into Pleasantville but was unable to overtake it. Fragments from the headlight and other broken pieces from the car proved the identity of the make.

The bracket which braced the radio aerial on the car had been broken off and was found at the scene and the aerial doubtless is unstable and probably in an unusual position.

State Police and county officials ask everyone who notices such a Dodge car, light green in color, and badly broken and dented about the front on the left side, to report at once by telephone. Meanwhile a search of the Ohio records is being made at Columbus to seek out and eliminate every car with a license number which included the two known digits.

Mr. Hardy told Coroner Ed Lowrey, District Attorney Joseph H. Goldstein, Sheriff L. E. Linder, Deputy Sheriff S. Secor and P. T. Leslie Fobes, of the state police, that he and Mr. Rayburn had been sitting in the shade of a tree off the highway some distance near the New Central tracks, for some time chatting, when the latter decided to return to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Rinehart. He started up a lane to the improved highway, Mr. Hardy said, and the next thing he heard a "thud" which directed his attention to the road. Mr. Rayburn was lying along the edge of the pavement and a car was driving toward Grand Valley at terrific speed.

Some confusion resulted later when the machine which started in pursuit of the death car was mistaken for the one that struck Mr. Rayburn.

The body of Mr. Rayburn was removed to the Young funeral home where an examination and post mortem was held by a Youngsville physician at the direction of Coroner Lowrey, who had impaneled a jury at the scene, in event an inquest is decided upon. It was found that Mr. Rayburn had sustained bad fractures to the head, his face was crushed, at least five ribs broken, his back broken, his right leg broken and he suffered internal hemorrhages. The body was later released to the Bracken & Keating morticians in Corry, and removed to that place where services were held this afternoon at two o'clock.

Mr. Rayburn was born in Bath county, Virginia, November 17th 1856. He lived for many years in Elkins, West Virginia and practiced his trade as a blacksmith until he was beyond 80 years of age. He later resided in Hamilton, O., until 1943 when he came to Torpedo to make his home with Mr. and Mrs. Rinehart. Another daughter, Mrs. Anna Vandervort, resides at Longview, Wash., and a son Sgt. Homer Rayburn is now serving with the Armed Forces in Germany. There are six grandchildren, three great-grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Three sisters also survive, Mrs. Alice Siple and Mrs. C. R. Fellen, of Hamilton, O., and Mrs. Mattie Oliver, of Lewisburg, West Virginia.

Schwartz's home run and a couple of other good hits on the side put the Outlaws in the lead and were mostly responsible for their win. Olson and Miro were battery mates for the losers.

A COMMONPLACE BOOK

Charles H. Noyes, the one poet of note in Warren's history, often wrote in the moralizing vein so dear to Longfellow, Whittier and other minor poets who occupied a major place. Yet his imagery is often remarkably vivid. One of his most charming poems is "TO A FIREFLY."

Against the boundless night
Thou, with stout heart, dost set thy tiny flame
Brave little beacon! thy one drop of light
Doth put my life to shame,
Thou, small thy lamp,
No brightest star may vaunt itself o'er thee,
As home, belated, to his grassy camp
Thou lightest the tired bee.
Thy mission no man knows
To judge of thee. The mites thy critics are;
To the small folk that populate yon rose
Perhaps thou art a star.
Atom of the light
That floods the world from the bright sun at noon,
Above the insect cities, thou, to-night,
Dost hang like a white moon.
The world of mites is glad
To see in its low heaven thy small spark.
My useless life—a smoking torch—doth add
But darkness unto dark.

se seems to have been enraptured in the theme of mortality, which has morbidly fascinated poets since the beginning. Here is "STRAWBERRIES GROWING UPON GRAVES."

Shall I refuse thy largess, little vine,
Because thy hungry roots feed on my dead,
Sucking from bloodless lips the blood-like wine
That dyes thy berries red?
Nay, all the happy, living things I see
Are of the substance of dead things that were;
The heart that loved me once sends up to me
Remembrances of her.
Feed me today; grudge not thy dainty fare.
I am no beggar asking alms of thee,
One moment I enjoy thy berries rare;
Thou shalt feast long on me.

In "THE CREED" he apparently was not sure that the church spoke the final word on religion. Here is the second stanza:

The voice of many Priests is heard
Proclaiming, "Here is God's true word!"
One cries, "Behold a Book!" and one,
"Behold the skies! peruse the sun!"
Read earth's clear page of ancient rock,
Written by death, and earthquake shock,
And graving glacier! while a third
Cries, "All in vain you seek God's word
With eyes of flesh! Go thou apart,
His oracle is thine own heart!"

In "LAWYER AND POET," he amusingly contrasts his bread-and-butter legal career with his preferred life as poet and lover of nature. I quote the first verse, in which he addresses his legal tomes, and the last:

O rare battalion of buff-jerked knights,
That on my shelves huddled like sheep together;
Heroes of dusty fields and wordy fights!
Proudly you wear your well-scarred coats of leather;
So be it never. For my daily bread,
Knightslings, I'll march before you into battle;
But, when the day is done, with unheeded head
I'll walk the woods and hear the crickets rattle.

There are several sonnets, such as "A SUMMER NIGHT."

A sleeping river, coiled among the hills
Like a huge serpent wrought in polished steel;
A watching moon whose silver fount distills
Soft floods that earthquake tremulously reel;
Myriads of fire-flies, each with torch a-light,
Through the soft haze like little meteors gleam,
Their twinkling shadows nestling for the night
Close by fair starlets bosomed in the stream;
All to my soul appear as a dream,
Our earth was never wont to be so fair,
Nor ever breathed so soft an evening air,
Nor came such perfume from earth's rarest flowers,
Sweetheart! thy beauty fills this world of ours,
And Nature is more sweet for love of thee.

Here is the last stanza of the last poem, "THE HILL":

O gentle year! may my death be Like thine,
May I, like thee, grow beautifully old,
Death creeping on as slowly as to thee
Comes winter's snowy twilight.
May white hairs
Bring grander days, that, when at last the frost
Lies chill upon my cheek, some kindly voice
May say above my head: "His latest days
Were even his happiest. He passed away
As one who in the evening falls asleep."

He died at the early age of forty-nine, and so did not realize this hope. But in the last stanza of "THE PRODIGAL," he expressed another longing that at least one of his poems should survive and render his memory immortal:

Guardian of thoughts, immortal memory!
Keep thou immortal some good
thought of mine,
Which, in oblivion's dark, may softly shine
Like the pale fire of a rotting tree.
If thou do keep but one song-
child alive,
In its sweet body shall my soul survive.

Charles Noyes is a man whom one can admire and like, even at a distance of half a century. One cannot say that his verse was marked by either originality or great technical competence. But it was a respectable addition to the poetry of the day; as good as most of Longfellow or Lowell. After many decades it still has a certain freshness and fragile charm, and an occasional surprising richness of imagery. We can certainly respect the fact that he wrote poetry at all; that he was not content to be just another pillar of society; that he ventured to think for himself and to voice his thoughts. Keeping in mind his own expressed hope, I like to think that this brilliant, gentle man would have been pleased by our commentary on himself and his works, brief as it is, forty-seven years after his death and sixty-seven years after the publication of "Studies in Verse."
